

Renewed vision

With the Cheyenne Greenway before me and nature's environs around me, summer peddling on my new bicycle has brought renewal.

The eclipse of Aug. 21 brought together new and old friends at Grace Lutheran in Casper, as we marveled at totality, with awe and wonder.

With solar light too bright for the human eye, my husband and I and a cast of thousands (millions?) donned goofy-looking protective eyewear and recalled God's handiwork.

In the beginning when God created the heavens and the earth, the earth was a formless void and darkness covered the face of the deep, while a wind from God swept over the face of the waters. Then God said, "Let there be light"; and there was light. And God saw that the light was good; and God separated the light from the darkness. God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And there was evening and there was morning, the first day. Genesis 1
